INCENSED AT FAILURE TO KILL HIMSELF

William Hear of Montpelier Was Found Hanging in His Own Barn, Wishes He Had Tried Drowning Instead of Hanging.

Apparently deeply incensed because his attempt at suicide had been foiled, William Hoar of Montpelier expressed the wish last night, as he sat in the Mont-peller police station, that he had tried drowning instead of hanging. He said: "If I had cut a hole in the ice and jumped in they wouldn't have found me until spring, and I should have been along with Mary Rogers by that time."

Despendency over financial and family affairs is the cause assigned for Hoar's act. He designed that he is perfectly suns and that he will complete the job before he is much older. He says that the determination to commit suicide was formed Monday night, and on Tues-day forenoon he made the arrangements, New York, Dec. 20.—A fire, starting in the women's section of the work house on Blackwell's island early today, burn of away the supports of the roof and went to the barn, threw a rope over the supports of the roof and the money in sight. Upwards of one hundred barrels and ackages of a special brand of "holiday heer, constituting the biggest liquor aid ever made in Barre, now rest in the basement of the City Hall, having been seized yesterday afternoon from a car in the Central Vermont railroad yard. The total value of the saizure is in the neighborhood of $1,500. There is one thing certain, the holidays will not be calebrated with so much liquid enthusiasm as was anticipated by great many people.

There have been seixures of liquor from cars before, here in Barre, but never n the same degree of magnitude as this. Three years ago a quantity, not quite one-third as large as this, was taken, and that was the record up to this time. A high water mark, so to A regular meeting of the Board of Al-dermen was held last evening, but only in yesterday forenoon, and the sleuths speak, has now been set. The stuff came about 3 o'clock until evening half a water and fire committees with power dozen men and eight teams were busy A resolution relating to additional the City Ball.
